

Invest in the future with the
E.T. certificate

Evolution Technology

Focus of the E.T. certificate:

- ✓ Liquidity management
(min. 20 percent buffer)
 - ✓ Tiered project financing
combined with control mechanisms (investment up to 40 percent)
 - ✓ Investment partially based on artificial intelligence
in the alternative financial product sector (up to 80 percent)

Our task is to minimise the risk through our investment and project strategies.

6 = High risk without an additional funding obligation

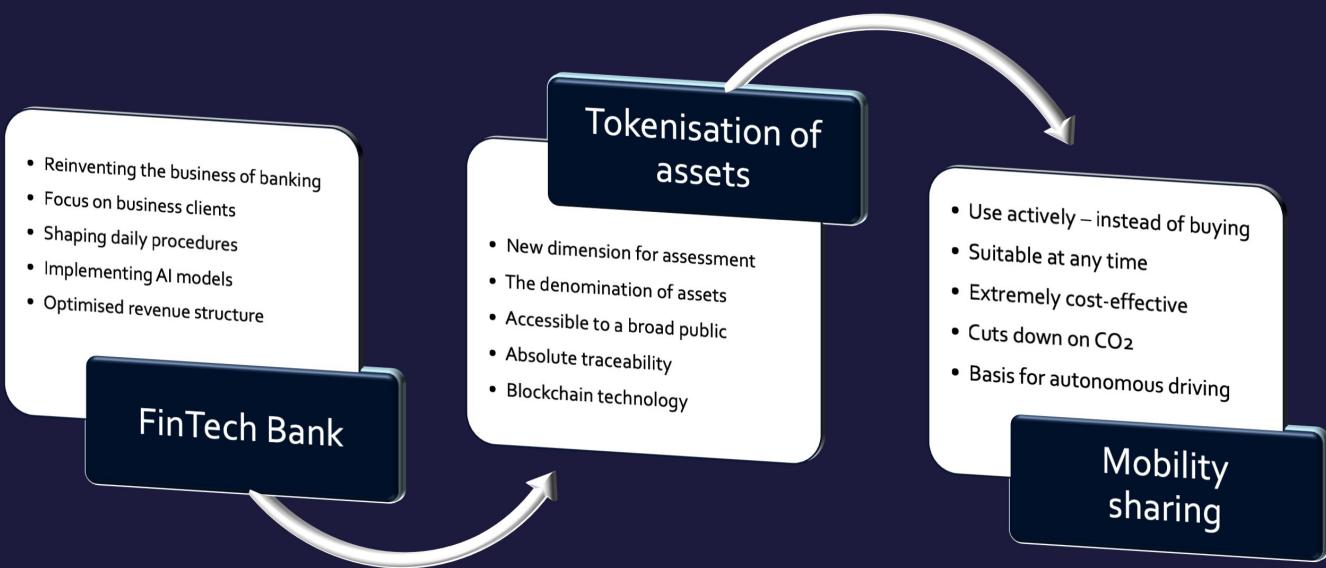

Companies and family offices have invested in alternative investments for a very long time. From a historical perspective, these are the classes of investment with the highest returns, despite inflation and risk. With the E.T. certificate you also invest in them.

The focus of AJ projects as the global brand of Global Investments Luxembourg S.A. involves developing financially sustainable capital market projects and then consistently building them up. The shareholders and partners consciously chose an international focus of AJ projects.

The company has an in-depth focus on capital, assured by its shareholders and by additional investors.

Some examples of our current projects

AJ projects is a global brand focused on the development of international projects. Through capital market strategies and the resultant forms of ownership, we create new kinds of opportunity for investors.

Risks

- The financial markets of different countries can fluctuate independently of one another as a result of political, economic and other developments.
- As a result of the investment in derivatives and currency strategies enacted on the basis of investments and hedges, the basis is an increased risk profile.
- Investments involving listed crypto currencies as well as ICOs and STOs (a max. of 10% in total) and holdings in companies and projects (a max. of 40% in total) as well as private placements (a max. of 20% in total) harbour the risk of a loss in value, and even of a total loss.
- Investments founded upon technology-based decision-making may under some circumstances be prone to greater risk.

Disclaimer:

This document only serves as a basis for information for institutional investors and must not be reproduced or disseminated without prior consent. Unless other sources are named, all of the opinions expressed are those of Global Investments Luxembourg S.A.. This communication document is not intended for private individuals and must not be used by them as a basis for action. This communication document is directed solely at companies based in jurisdictions in which this certificate is approved for sale to this specific customer base (institutional investors) or in which this form of approval is not required. Global Investments Luxembourg S.A. only publishes product-related information and does not give investment recommendations based on the personal circumstances of its customers. Global Investments Luxembourg S.A. is an open investment company under Luxembourg law with various different classes of investment. These investment classes can be more volatile than investments in well-known securities. Due to the higher risk of failure, investments in the E.T. certificate therefore entail much greater risk than, for example, corporate bonds. The risk of failure depends upon the ability of the issuer to make its interest and income payments and upon their ability to repay the capital at term. None of the statements or illustrations provided in this document are legally binding upon Global Investments Luxembourg S.A. nor for the beneficiary. All offers are subject to agreement to the contractual terms and conditions. As the result of investments abroad and in foreign currency transactions, exchange rates can cause values to fluctuate greatly, leading to a risk profile that calls for a high willingness to engage in risk. The investors are advised that the opinions expressed at any given time may no longer be current or that Global Investments Luxembourg S.A. has already taken action in response to them. The statements and analyses included in this document were compiled by Global Investments Luxembourg S.A. and a portfolio manager may already have taken action on the basis of them. We advise you only to make investment decisions on the basis of detailed information. We only accept investments in this certificate or in project holdings after a detailed conversation with you, based upon a full set of detailed documents.

Risk warning:

Trading in foreign currencies and Contracts For Difference (CFDs) involving leveraged products, is highly speculative and can entail a substantial risk of loss. It is possible to lose all of your capital. As a consequence, Forex and CFDs may not be appropriate for all investors. Only invest amounts that you can afford to lose. Please also ensure that you fully understand the associated risks. When required, seek independent advice. Global Investments Luxembourg S.A. does not offer any services for residents and/or nationals of the United States.
